MAMMALS

The best place in Europe to observe Golden Jackals

The remoteness of the property is one of the reasons why mammals live undisturbed here, and not rarely move also by day. Not only Jackals, but also Otters and Wildcats can be observed in broad daylight, both from buggies or from the hides. Dedicated night excursions offer the chance to spot the most reserved inhabitants of the property, like Raccoon Dog, Badger, Beech Marten and Wild Boar. Some interesting smaller mammals are present, such as Northern White-breasted Hedgehog, Forest Dormouse and the tiny Harvest Mouse. The nearby Letea forest, where in the last century used to roam the last Romanian Mooses, is a real hotspot for bats, with more than 20 species recorded, beside having good populations of Roe Deers, Jackals and Pine Martens.

CALENDAR SOLD THE MAMMALS

26 - Danube Delta - Romania Ultima Frontiera - 27

Ultima Frontiera es el mejor sitio en Europa para observar y fotografiar el Chacal de oro. Es una especie afro-asiática, alcanzando también el este de Europa, que se está expandiendo hacia el norte y el oeste de Europa, que ya ha alcanzado Italia, Alemania y Suiza, Son 5 las especies diferentes de caballos salvajes que componen el continente europeo, una de ellas es el caballo salvaje de Letea.

PHOTO HIDES

A wide range of photo hides of the latest generation give nature photographers a chance to test themselves with a multitude of different subjects and perspectives being over time in a new habitat and setting from floating hides at water level to drinking holes for woodpeckers and the dune hide for white-tailed eagles. Wide windows with very high quality glasses and soundproof walls allow to observe the wildlife in an innovative way reducing the disturbance to a minimum and ensuring the best naturalness in the animals' behaviour. Additionally, there are excursions on off-road vehicles to explore the surrounding wetlands and the lichen forest, a Scapanus Reserve as well as boat rides on an impressive boat-hide for visiting the big lakes in the heart of the delta.

230 especies de aves han sido registradas en lo que va dentro de la propiedad: from Smews, Rough-legged Buzzards and gran gris Alcaudones en invierno, a los gansos de pecho rojo, blanco-winged Terns y papamoscas de pecho rojo durante la migración, a 90 especies de cría como de patas rojas Falcon, ruiseñor, Negro, Gris-dirigió, Pico menor manchado y manchado gran, Siria, Reedlings barbudos, con bigote y Acrocephalus agricola. Pelícanos, somormujos Negro de cuello y pecho rojo y negro y Fumareles, Canasteras y Avocetas en lagos y estepas salinas, Grandes gaviotas de cabeza negra y Sandwich Terns lo largo del Mar Negro

VIAJE AL CENTRO DEL ORIGEN

BIRDS

230 bird species have been recorded so far inside the property from Smeets, Rough-legged Buzzards and Great Grey Shrikes in winter to Red-breasted Cees, White-winged Terns and Red-breasted Flycatchers during migration, to 90 breeding species like Red-footed Falcon, Thrush Nightingale and Paddyfield Warbler an exceptional heritage of ornithological diversity for such a small area. Furthermore, there are colonial breeding species you can observe during excursions in the surrounding areas: Black-necked and Red-breasted Grebes and Black and Whiskered Terns in the Menei and Matia lakes, Collared Pratincoles and Phalaropes in salty steppes, Great Black-headed Gulls and Sandwich Terns along the Black-Sea shores. Thanks to its geographical position, Ultima Frontiera, not far from the sea and inside the Danube delta, offers to birders an incredible list of potential vegetation and reptiles, among which in these last years there are Lesser- White-fronted Goose, Great Spotted Eagle, Demoiselle Crane, Ternk Sandpiper, Crane, Magpie, Siberian Stonechat, Little Bunting and so on. Among the easiest species to find, especially in early spring and late summer, there are the four woodpeckers breeding species Black, Grey-headed, Lesser- Spotted and Great Spotted with the bonus of Syrian Woodpecker more common in the villages of Parprava, Letea and Sulina (and only rarely inside the property). The immense reedbeds separates support many interesting species, from Bittern, Little Bittern and Little Grebe to various passerines perfectly adapted to this environment, from the light brown coloured Siskin, Sedge, Mustached and Paddyfield Warblers breeding in Ultima Frontiera, to the more vividly coloured and searched for by photographers Bearded Reedlings, a common breeder even more numerous during migrations.

THE RESERVE

One thousand hectares of lakes, reedbeds, woodland and bushy areas surround a very high-quality lodge.

The lodge at Ultima Frontera is a real technical challenge which allows you to enjoy your stay in one of the remotest areas in Europe with the very same level of comfort of your home. It has been built renovating an old twentieth century building and it is situated in the heart of the property. A unique atmosphere with the comfort of a 4-stars hotel, large rooms with satellite tv and large en-suite bathrooms, a restaurant with outside terrace where you can have dinner enjoying wonderful sunsets, free wireless internet connection available everywhere inside the hotel.

The property around the hotel, during the communist regime, hosted a prison camp, subsequently turned into a fish farm; this troublesome past has given the area a peculiar aspect characterized by polygon shaped water bodies and basins, as well as by the presence of picturesque ruins and old buildings, now immersed in the natural vegetation and offering shelter to little owls, rollers and woodcocks. This is one of the peculiar features of this place, the unequivocal preeminence of nature, from the howling of the jackals at dinner time, to the frenetic activity of the mosquitoes in the yard from the nocturnal concert of the tree frogs, to the brawks among the grey headed woodpeckers on the thatched roof of the hotel; simply a unique place.

Only 12 visitors at a time are allowed to stay inside the estate, and therefore the network of over 30 kilometres of trails are at their exclusive disposal, to be explored on foot or on board the silent electric cars. These small vehicles are very good for approaching wild animals, and can be used as mobile hides for shooting great images. And there's no need to worry about getting lost, as knowledgeable local guides will help you memorize easy landmarks which combined with the useful maps (one in every buggy) and the signage, will make the discovery on your own being a unique and relaxing experience.
